

What is all the Fuss about "Vital Living Earth 100% Natural Silica?"

OK, before we continue let's get clear "Vital Living Earth Natural Silica" is not a miracle synthetic drug that chemically alters the human body's chemistry

To the contrary!

Vital Living Earth 100% Natural Silica Naturally Enhances the Body's ability to heal itself through the presence of Silica from Food Source.

How?

Silica from Food Source is essential to life being that it is required for the body to carry out ongoing Metabolic Functions. Silica from Food Source must be continuously supplied to the human body from external sources such as Food Products. Unfortunately the majority of Modern Western Foods have been depleted from this Essential Mineral therefore starving the body of its required Vital Silica Intake!

Our Purest form of Silica is now readily available in the form of 100% Natural Diatomaceous Earth (Amorphous Silica)

Our Objective at Vital Living Earth!

At Vital Living Earth our objective is and always will be is to be able to Provide Humanity with our “Vital Living Earth 100% Natural Silica” for the sole purpose that people from all walks of life are be able to benefit Greater Well-Being Naturally!

With a Clinically Proven Purity of approx. 96%-99% Natural Food Grade Silica our “Vital Living Earth 100% Natural Silica” is the purest of its kind ever known to man!

Fact! Vital Living Earth 100% Natural Silica is 100% Indigenous to Australia! (100% Australian Made & Owned)

Our Powder Form is Mined in Australia, Packed in Australia from an Australian Food Grade Processing Plant.

International Research

Researches across the globe such as Nobel Prize Winner German Biochemist Adolf Butenandt concluded that life as we know it cannot exist without the Vitality of Silica.

Some of the Benefits of Silica from Food Source

Collagen:

As with other minerals, Silica levels in the body decrease with age unless it is supplemented. As we live longer, connective tissues in the body lose their ability to retain moisture and if left unattended will degenerate.

Collagen – largely comprised of silica -is responsible for helping to retain moisture in connective tissue. In turn, it is the moisture in tissue that keeps it supple and resilient. Supple and resilient skin is a direct reflection of Good Dietary Silica intake hence maintaining Optimal Health.

Bone Health:

Calcium in the bones degenerate in the body as a result of aging, diet or lifestyle – or a combination thereof. This results in brittle, thin and weak bones – a condition known as Osteoporosis.

Calcium cannot be assimilated by the body without the presence of Silica from Food Source. Silica from Food Source may also alleviate the presence of pain associated with osteoporosis as well as rebooting the body's own self-repairing process.

Bones are primarily made up of calcium, magnesium and phosphorous in addition to Silica from Food Source. The role of Silica from Food Source in this case is to enable the deposit of other minerals into the bones – in particular calcium. Silica from Food Source is actually a transport agent that is responsible for the absorption of calcium, magnesium, boron and iron by the bones.

Hair, Finger & Toe Nails:

Did you know that a major component of Hair and Nails is Silica from Food Source!

By way of comparison, Bone has 100 micrograms of Vital Silica per gram. Hair and Nails contain 90 micrograms of Silica from Food Source per gram. It is documented by many Professionals that Silica from Food Source revitalizes and stimulates Healthier Hair and Nail growth in Humans.

The Human Brain:

Research shows that the accumulation of aluminum in the tissues of the body is directly linked to the onset of dementia including Alzheimer's disease.

Research also shows that Silica from Food Source helps to remove heavy metals from the body. Moreover, there is evidence that shows that a deficiency of Silica from Food Source can cause aluminum to accumulate in the tissues of the body, including the brain. (Alzheimer Dis Assoc Disord; 1(2):83-9)

Menopause & Hormone Balance:

The German biochemist Adolf Butenandt's work with sex hormones earned him a Nobel Prize in 1939.

One of the conclusions his research proved is that life cannot exist without Silica from Food Source.

Dr. Butenandt's work proved that hormonal imbalances in humans are many times the result of a Calcium-Magnesium Imbalance. Further studies have concluded that Silica from Food Source can restore this balance. Silica from Food Source has also been found to help with the absorption of phosphorous. For these reasons, Silica from Food Source is considered a catalyst for important bodily functions related to other minerals.

SMECTITE AND STOMACH BUGS/DIAHREA IN CHILDREN

The C.S.I.R.O of Australian conducted several analysis of our Natural Silica Diatomaceous Earth (Amorphous Silica) and discovered that there was up to 4% of a Natural Trace Element called Smectite present.

With the discovery of Smectite in our Amorphous Silica and with the International Research of Medical Scientist Professionals Concluding their Evidence that Smectite is a major component in the alleviation of Stomach Bugs and Diarrhea in Children we believe Vital Living Earth 100% Natural Silica is a Supernatural Alternative for the Well-Being of Humanity . <http://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pmc/articles/PMC2564137/>

“Greater Wellbeing Naturally!”

